ENTITLED,

A COLLECTION

OF

THIRTY THOUSAND NAMES, &C., &C.

In compliance with the Laws of Pennsylvania, Masters of Ships importing emigrants from the continent of Europe, furnished, on their arrival at the port of Philadelphia, exact Lists of all imported foreigners. The original Lists are still preserved in the State Department, at Harrisburg, and, but for these, comparatively few of living millions would now scarce be able to determine with certainty the time of their ancestors' arrival. Those who can appreciate motives, and sacrifices made, feel a laudable curiosity to know the names of all, who were "in perils in the sea," with their progenitors. This curiosity, the Editor has attempted to satisfy, by the plan of arrangement adopted—grouping the names of a band of co-adventurers; thus investing them with additional interest. He may have done more. This Collection may lead to the recovery of rights to inheritances, that might otherwise remain unestablished. It is not, however, presumed that this, in itself, is judicial evidence; but may suggest modes of proof. One of the main objects, among others, of this publication, is to preserve names, which indifference or accidents might forever place beyond reach. And what can be a greater source of satisfaction to the descendants of those whose names are thus preserved, than a collection of this kind, and by this means hand names down to millions of a living progeny? If an old newspaper, with a grandfather's name, is carefully preserved, as a memento, why not value this proposed collection of thirty thousand names? Why not procure a copy at once, at a price within the reach of thousands? Hereafter, no opportunity may present itself. To afford those, who desire copies, an idea of the plan of arrangement, size of type, page and quality of paper, a specimen has been issued. The volume will make nearly 500 pages. An Introduction, embracing general remarks, a complete catalogue of all the baptismal names that occur, with their significations, will be prefixed.

imported in the ship Saint Andrew, and the original papers. From the book alluded to it appears the ship Saint Andrew, John Stedman, master, was freighted with Schwenckfelders, followers of Caspar Schwenckfeld, born in Lower Silesia, 1490. These left their homes in April, 1734, embarked at Altoona, Denmark, May 14; arrived at Philadelphia, the 22d September, and on the 23d they declared their fealty—"Den 23^{ten} Sep. mußten alle Manns-Personen, so über 16 Jahr auf 's Rathhaus, um dem Herrn des Landes, nemlich dem König von Groß-Brittanien, u. Successores der Krone Englands den Eid der Treue ablegen."—Reise-Beschreibung, &c. pp. 450-461. These settled in Berks, Lehigh and Montgomery.—Rupp's His. Rel. Denom. U. S. pp. 663-667.—Rupp's His. Berks Co., 222, 427. For a full account see Chapter Schwenckfelders, in Rupp's His. of the Germans in Pennsylvania.

Here it may be noted, that these were not the first Schwenckfelders in Pennsylvania. Sept. 18, 1733, a number of them arrived at Philadelphia, in the Brigantine Pennsylvania Merchant: among these were Johann Klemm, Gottlob Klemm, Georg Scholtz, David Scholtz. It would appear they remained for some time in Philadelphia. Herr von Beck in his Reise-Diarium von Ebenezer in Georgia, nach den Nord-Ländern, under date, Philadelphia, June 6, 1734, says: "Hier sind von allen Religionen und Secten: Lutheraner, Reformirte, Bischöfliche, Presbyterianer, Catholiken, Quäcker, Dämpfer, Mennonisten, Sabbatherians, Siebentäger, Separatisten, Böhmisten, Schwenckfeldianer, Tutschfelder, Wohlwünscher, Juden und Heiden, u. s. f.

I. D. RUPP,

Dear Sir :—Having examined the arrangement of The Collection of Thirty Thousand Names, &c., proposed to be published by you, I feel free to recommend the same to the descendants of those ancestors whose names have been carefully copied from the original. It will be a valuable and interesting publication.

Yours, very truly,

JAMES POLLOCK.

Entered, according to Act of Congress, January 25, 1856, by

Just published the New Edition of
P. J. KUNST'S
PRONOUNCING DICTIONARY

OF THE

German and English Languages,

CONTAINING

ALL THE WORDS IN GENERAL USE ;

DESIGNATING

THE VARIOUS PARTS OF SPEECH IN BOTH LANGUAGES,

With the Orthography, Accentuation, Division and plan of Pronunciation according to Webster, and with the Genders and Plurals of the German Nouns, the Division of Words into Syllables, the Separation of Compound Nouns by double hyphens according to their formation.

Without intending any invidious comparison, it may be safely stated, that this Dictionary has superior claims to many others. The arrangement adopted prevents the learner from being exceedingly perplexed and often misled in finding words, and in apprehending the true meaning. These difficulties are avoided, by giving the words in full, dividing them into syllables, with proper marks of accentuation. Many words have several meanings, and unless the word is divided into syllables and accentuated, the learner is apt to misapprehend the proper signification. Instances of the kind are numerous—one must suffice here: Erblässung, a growing pale, bequeathment. To determine the true meaning of this, and all other words, they are divided into syllables, and accentuated. It presents other facilities. Any one can, by reference to the key placed at the head of each page, learn to pronounce every word correctly—so indispensable in a colloquial knowledge of a living language. A few days' use of this Dictionary, will satisfy any person who has tried another, that this is the only reliable aid in acquiring a practical knowledge of so noble a language as the German.

The book contains over 900 pages, is printed on clear white paper with distinct, good type, and tastefully bound. The undersigned will, upon the receipt of $1 50, send a copy free to any part of the U. S.
